

TheTieBar.com
Esquire
February 2012

Esquire

ESQUIRE / FEBRUARY

Style

FREE

THINGS WE CAN ALL AGREE ON

IN THIS SECTION

- A necessity-based guide to buying bags.
- How to dress if you're funny.
- Bat first, in pease of...

THE EVERYDAY BAG

YOU'VE GOT A PROBLEM. Maybe it's a papers-and-funders problem, or a gym-clothes-and-sticks-of-gum problem, but this problem—too much stuff to carry around—can easily be solved with the purchase of a good bag. Not a man-bag or a nurse or whatever heinous neologism is currently the subject of a hard-hitting trend piece on the fourth hour of the Toddy show. Just a good-looking, versatile, everyday bag that serves all your stuff-carrying needs. At a little more than 20 inches in length, this Coach bag is roomy enough to fit your laptop—

THE ESSENTIALS
THE COACH EVERYDAY BAG

See the best new clothes from men's fashion week in Milan, Florence, and Paris at esquire.com/style-blog.

Coach: There are briefcases and briefs and many other fine bags on the following pages. But if you're looking to solve your problem, this is a good place to start.

Leather bag ($698) by Coach; three-button silk-and-wool jacket ($592) by Joseph Abboud; cotton shirt ($295) by Caruso; cotton jeans ($165) by J Brand; washed-calf-leather shoes ($645) by O'Keefe; silk pocket square ($12) by the Tie Bar.

silk pocket square ($12) by the Tie Bar.