"My general rule is it's always better to be overdressed than underdressed, even if you are just going out to see some crusty punk band. I host a live TV show at Santos Party House, so I like letting our guests and audience members know we respect their time. I think wearing a nice suit helps to convey that. I grew up on punk rock, so I guess the idea of dressing better than your perceived 'superiors' was a big one for me. I think it's cool for a gentleman to look put together even though it's clear he doesn't need to wear a suit every day to earn a living. On a philosophical level, I'm rebelling against the whole sartorial infantilization of the American male; I think us young people could make a lot more money if we stepped up our looks. But that's just me."

"This corduroy suit is bespoke from Brooklyn Tailors. You can really beat it up and treat it badly; it looks better the more you abuse it. I've worn it in the rain and snow; I don't care."
